1 MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES

2 Plaintiff JOSHUA ASSIFF (hereinafter referred to as “ASSIFF” or 3 “Plaintiff”) hereby respectfully submits the following memorandum of points and 4 authorities in opposition to the motion to dismiss under FRCP 12(b)(6) filed in this 5 action by Defendants COUNTY OF LOS ANGELES (“COLA”) and SERGEANT 6 TRAVIS KELLY (“KELLY”) (hereinafter COLA and KELLY shall collectively be 7 referred to as “Defendants”).

8 I. INTRODUCTION

9 Plaintiff is a 21-year old black male and a student at Antelope Valley College 10 where he plays basketball. Plaintiff was driving from his home to a teammate’s house 11 in order to carpool to basketball practice. For no apparent reason and without 12 probable cause, KELLY, a male Caucasian motorcycle Sheriff deputy, pulled 13 Plaintiff over. For no apparent reason and without probable cause, KELLY – as well 14 as other deputies who subsequently responded to the call – all tasered, choked, pepper 15 sprayed, beat and arrested Plaintiff. Plaintiff has asserted two causes of action – the 16 First Cause of Action against KELLY for violation of 42 USC § 1983 (arrest without 17 probable cause and with excessive force), and the Second Cause of Action against 18 COLA for violation of 42 USC § 1983 (Monell liability).

19 Defendants argue that the issue of probable cause has been conclusively
20 determined, and Plaintiff is precluded by collateral estoppel from disputing a finding 21 purportedly made on an ex parte booking form entitled Probable Cause
22 Determination (Declaration) and apparently e-signed by a California Superior Court 23 Judge. The fact that Defendants would even forward such an argument is worrisome.
24 The “determination” was made only 24 hours after the arrest, before Plaintiff
25 obtained counsel, while Plaintiff was not present, without an opportunity by Plaintiff 26 or Plaintiff’s counsel to be heard, and based solely on a six-line declaration e-signed 27 by KELLY. This was not a final judgment on the merits or even a probable cause 28 finding after a preliminary hearing. This issue was not litigated, Plaintiff was not a

1 party with an opportunity to be heard, and this was not a final determination on the 2 merits. Collateral estoppel simply does not apply.

3 Defendants argue that KELLY is protected by qualified immunity, but 4 qualified immunity is not a license for cops to beat innocent motorists. The 5 allegations of the Complaint represent a clear and unmistakable violation of 6 Plaintiff's rights that any law enforcement officer would realize was in violation of 7 the law. Assuming the truthfulness of the allegations of the Complaint, KELLY is 8 not entitled to qualified immunity and must be held liable for his actions.

9 Defendants argue that the Monell claim against COLA fails, because the 10 allegations are conclusory and unsupported by facts. Once again, the facts alleged in 11 the complaint are presumed to be true as well as any reasonable inferences drawn 12 from those facts. Plaintiff alleges these non-conclusory facts to support his Monell 13 claim: 1) The County has a policy or custom to employ motorcycle and other officers 14 to make unnecessary and unwarranted traffic stops to bully and harass African 15 American drivers. 2) The County has a policy or custom to bully and harass African 16 American drivers by initiating frivolous traffic stops of African American drivers.
17 3) The County has a policy or custom to bully and harass African American drivers 18 by arresting them without probable cause. 4) The County has a policy or custom to 19 bully and harass African American drivers by using excessive force to effectuate their 20 arrest. Assuming the truth of these facts, Plaintiff has sufficiently alleged a Monell 21 claim.

22 This is the first time that the Court has examined the merits of Plaintiff's 23 pleading. In the event that the Court finds any deficiencies, Plaintiff contends that 24 the deficiencies can be corrected by amendment and respectfully requests an 25 opportunity to do so.

26 II. STANDARD OF RULING ON MOTION TO DISMISS

27 A motion pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 12(b)(6) tests the legal 28 sufficiency of the claims asserted in a complaint. Under this Rule, a district court

1 properly dismisses a claim if “there is a ‘lack of a cognizable legal theory or the 2 absence of sufficient facts alleged under a cognizable legal theory.’” Conservation
3 Force v. Salazar, 646 F.3d 1240, 1242 (9th Cir. 2011) (quoting Balisteri v. Pacifica
4 Police Dep’t, 901 F.2d 696, 699 (9th Cir. 1988)). “While a complaint attacked by a 5 Rule 12(b)(6) motion to dismiss does not need detailed factual allegations, a 6 plaintiff’s obligation to provide the ‘grounds’ of his ‘entitlement to relief’ requires 7 more than labels and conclusions, and a formulaic recitation of the elements of a 8 cause of action will not do.” Bell Atlantic Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 555 (2007) 9 (internal citations omitted). “Factual allegations must be enough to raise a right to 10 relief above the speculative level.” Id. (internal citations omitted).

11 In considering a motion pursuant to Rule 12(b)(6), a court must accept as true 12 all material allegations in the complaint, as well as all reasonable inferences to be 13 drawn from them. Pareto v. FDIC, 139 F.3d 696, 699 (9th Cir. 1998). The complaint 14 must be read in the light most favorable to the nonmoving party. Sprewell v. Golden 15 State Warriors, 266 F.3d 979, 988 (9th Cir. 2001). However, “a court considering a 16 motion to dismiss can choose to begin by identifying pleadings that, because they are 17 no more than conclusions, are not entitled to the assumption of truth. While legal 18 conclusions can provide the framework of a complaint, they must be supported by 19 factual allegations.” Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 679 (2009); see Moss v. United 20 States Secret Service, 572 F.3d 962, 969 (9th Cir. 2009) (“[F]or a complaint to 21 survive a motion to dismiss, the non-conclusory ‘factual content,’ and reasonable 22 inferences from that content, must be plausibly suggestive of a claim entitling the 23 plaintiff to relief.”). Ultimately, “[d]etermining whether a complaint states a plausible 24 claim for relief will . . . be a context-specific task that requires the reviewing court to 25 draw on its judicial experience and common sense.” Iqbal, 556 U.S. at 679.

26 Unless a court converts a Rule 12(b)(6) motion into a motion for summary 27 judgment, a court cannot consider material outside of the complaint (e.g., facts 28 presented in briefs, affidavits, or discovery materials). In re American Cont’l

1 Corp./Lincoln Sav. & Loan Sec. Litig., 102 F.3d 1524, 1537 (9th Cir. 1996), rev'd on 2 other grounds sub nom Lexecon, Inc. v. Milberg Weiss Bershad Hynes & Lerach, 523 3 U.S. 26 (1998). A court may, however, consider exhibits submitted with or alleged 4 in the complaint and matters that may be judicially noticed pursuant to Federal Rule 5 of Evidence 201. In re Silicon Graphics Inc. Sec. Litig., 183 F.3d 970, 986 (9th Cir.
6 1999); Lee v. City of Los Angeles, 250 F.3d 668, 689 (9th Cir. 2001).

7 III. THERE IS NO COLLATERAL ESTOPPEL ON THE ISSUE OF 8 PROBABLE CAUSE

9 Defendants argue that the issue of probable cause has been conclusively
10 determined, and Plaintiff is precluded by Collateral Estoppel from disputing a finding 11 purportedly made on an ex parte booking form entitled Probable Cause
12 Determination (Declaration) and apparently e-signed by California Superior Court 13 Judge Christopher Estes approximately 24 hours after the arrest. “Under collateral 14 estoppel, once a court has decided an issue of fact or law necessary to its judgment, 15 that decision may preclude re-litigation of the issue in a suit on a different cause of 16 action involving a party to the first case.” Dodd v. Hood River County, 59 F.3d 852, 17 863 (9th Cir.1995). Under both California and federal law, collateral estoppel 18 applies only where it is established that (1) the issue necessarily decided at the 19 previous proceeding is identical to the one which is sought to be relitigated; (2) the 20 first proceeding ended with a final judgment on the merits; and (3) the party against 21 whom collateral estoppel is asserted was a party or in privity with a party at the first 22 proceeding. [Younan v. Caruso, 51 Cal.App.4th 401, 406-07, 59 Cal.Rptr.2d 103
23 (1996); see also Trevino v. Gates, 99 F.3d 911, 923 (9th Cir. 1996) – “(1) the issue 24 at stake must be identical to the one alleged in the prior litigation; (2) the issue must 25 have been actually litigated [by the party against whom preclusion is asserted] in the 26 prior litigation; and (3) the determination of the issue in the prior litigation must have 27 been a critical and necessary part of the judgment in the earlier action.” Id. citing 28 Town of North Bonneville v. Callaway, 10 F.3d 1505, 1508 (9th Cir.1993)] “The

1 party asserting preclusion bears the burden of showing with clarity and certainty what 2 was determined by the prior judgment.” Offshore Sportswear, Inc. v. Vuarnet 3 International, B.V., 114 F.3d 848, 850 (9th Cir.1997).

4 The Defendants’ claim of collateral estoppel, based upon a one-paged ex parte
5 e-signed booking form, must be rejected for a host of reasons. First, there is no 6 showing that the issue was ever litigated in the first proceeding. Plaintiff was not 7 present. Plaintiff was not represented. Plaintiff was not given any opportunity to be 8 heard. Only KELLY’s short one-sided declaration was even considered. Thus, the 9 issue was never litigated, and Plaintiff cannot fairly be considered to be a party to the 10 first “proceeding.” Second, the first “proceeding” did not end with a final judgment 11 on the merits. Under these circumstances, a final determination would be after a trial 12 on the merits and a conviction of Plaintiff on the crimes alleged. However, that did 13 not happen here. There was no trial on the merits. Plaintiff was never convicted of 14 anything. There was not even a preliminary hearing where Plaintiff might have had 15 an opportunity to be heard. There was no preliminary hearing, because there were 16 no criminal proceedings. This was a DA reject – no charges were even brought by 17 the District Attorney. The DA took one look at the body camera footage and 18 presumably concluded, despite the violent arrest, there were no crimes committed by 19 Plaintiff. Since Plaintiff was not a party, the issue was not litigated, and there was 20 no final judgment on the merits, there is no issue preclusion on probable cause.

21 Defendants rely on Evans v. Cnty. of Los Angeles, 529 F. Supp. 3d 1082 (C.D.
22 Cal. 2021) for their argument. However, they selectively edited the quote from that 23 case to mislead this Court. They quote a “finding of probable cause ... is a final 24 judgment on the merits for the purposes of collateral estoppel under the California 25 law....” (Defendants’ Motion, Doc. #16, 7;4-5) However, the actual quote is a 26 "finding of probable cause to hold the defendant over for trial is a final judgment 27 on the merits for the purposes of collateral estoppel under the California law...." 28 (Evans v. Cnty. of Los Angeles, supra, 529 F. Supp. 3d at 1095, emphasis added).

1 That omitted part of the quote, “to hold the defendant over for trial” is, of course, all 2 important. Evans, and that quote, concerned the very different situation where the 3 plaintiff had been criminally charged, the plaintiff was represented by counsel, the 4 court held a formal adversarial proceeding in the form of a preliminary hearing, 5 counsel for plaintiff was given an opportunity the cross-examine witnesses, present 6 evidence and make arguments, and after that fully litigated proceeding the Court held 7 there was probable cause to hold the plaintiff (the defendant in the criminal 8 proceeding) over for trial. None of that is present here, and Defendants know that.
9 That is why they deceptively edited the quote.

10 IV. PLAINTIFF WAS ARRESTED WITH EXCESSIVE FORCE

11 The Defendants argue that excessive force cannot be established, because 12 KELLY is protected by qualified immunity. However, on a motion to dismiss such 13 as this, the allegations in the Complaint are presumed to be true, as well as all 14 reasonable inferences to be drawn from them. Pareto v. FDIC, 139 F.3d 696, 699 15 (9th Cir. 1998). In this case, it is alleged that:

16 Plaintiff, a young black male, was driving through a predominately 17 white neighborhood, but as it turns out, his own neighborhood, as he 18 was on his way from his home to a teammate’s house to pick him up 19 to go to basketball practice. A sheriff’s deputy pulled Plaintiff over 20 for no apparent reason and without probable cause. Before Plaintiff 21 knew what was happening, and for no apparent reason, Plaintiff was 22 tasered, choked, pepper sprayed, beaten and arrested, all in violation 23 of Plaintiff’s constitutional rights. (Complaint 2:2-8)

24 Qualified Immunity is not a license for cops to beat innocent motorists for no 25 apparent reason. It merely hold that governmental employees will only be held liable 26 if their actions, “violate clearly established statutory or constitutional rights of which 27 a reasonable person would have known.” Jimenez v. County of Los Angeles, 130 28 Cal.App.4th 133, 144 (Cal. Ct. App. 2005). “By ‘clearly established’ the court means ‘it would be clear to a reasonable officer that his conduct was unlawful in the situation he confronted.’ In other words, an officer is not liable for his ‘reasonable mistakes.’ ”

1 Venegas v. County of Los Angeles, 153 Cal.App.4th 1230, 1241-1242 (Cal. Ct. App.
2 2007).

3 There is nothing reasonable about KELLY's conduct as alleged in the 4 Complaint. KELLY, a motorcycle deputy with the Los Angeles Sheriffs Department, 5 pulled over a young black man for no apparent reason and without probable cause.
6 Then for no apparent reason KELLY "tasered, choked, pepper sprayed, beaten and 7 arrested" Plaintiff. This conduct is a clear and unmistakable violation of Plaintiff's 8 Constitutional rights. Any reasonable law enforcement officer would know that.

9 V. PLAINTIFF HAS ADEQUATELY ALLEGED A "MONELL" CLAIM

10 Defendants argue that Plaintiff's Monell claim fails, not because the elements 11 of the claim are not satisfied by the pleading, but because the allegations are 12 conclusory and not supported by enough "facts" to support those conclusions.
13 Sometimes it is difficult to determine what is a fact and what is a conclusion. In this 14 case, Plaintiff has alleged these facts:

15 The County knowingly and intentionally promulgated,
16 maintained, applied, enforced, and continued policies, 17 customs, practices and usages in violation of the Fourth and 18 Fourteenth Amendment respectively to the United States 19 Constitution, which policies, customs, practices, and 20 usages at all times herein mentioned caused Plaintiff's 21 harm. These policies, customs, practices and usages 22 included, without limitation, the employment of 23 motorcycle and other officers to make unnecessary and 24 unwarranted traffic stops to bully and harass African 25 American drivers. This would include among other 26 things, the initiation of frivolous traffic stops, arrest
27 without probable cause, and the use of excessive force
28 to effectuate the arrest. (Complaint 5:22-6:3, Emphasis Added)

26 It could be fairly argued that the first sentence quoted above is conclusory, but 27 that conclusion is supported by the facts as alleged in the second sentence. Those 28 facts include:

1 1) The County has a policy or custom to employ motorcycle and other 2 officers to make unnecessary and unwarranted traffic stops to bully and harass 3 African American drivers.

4 2) The County has a policy or custom to bully and harass African American 5 drivers by initiating frivolous traffic stops of African American drivers.

6 3) The County has a policy or custom to bully and harass African American 7 drivers by arresting them without probable cause.

8 4) The County has a policy or custom to bully and harass African American 9 drivers by using excessive force to effectuate their arrest.

10 Again, for the purposes of this motion, all of these alleged facts must be 11 presumed true, as well as any and all reasonable inferences to be drawn from those 12 facts. [Pareto v. FDIC, 139 F.3d 696, 699 (9th Cir. 1998)] These facts, once proven 13 at trial, are sufficient to support Plaintiff’s Monell claim against COLA.

14 VI. IN THE EVENT THAT THE COURT IS INCLINED TO GRANT ANY 15 PART OF THE DEFENDANTS’ MOTION, PLAINTIFF REQUESTS AN 16 OPPORTUNITY TO AMEND

17 As a general rule, leave to amend a complaint which has been dismissed should 18 be freely granted. FRCP 15(a) expressly states the court “should freely give leave 19 when justice so requires.” [FRCP 15(a)(2); United States v. Corinthian Colleges, 655 20 F3d 984, 995 (9th Cir. 2011)—standard for granting leave to amend is 21 “generous”; Independent Trust Corp. v. Stewart Information Services Corp., 665 F3d 22 930, 943 (7th Cir. 2012)]. FRCP 15(a) severely restricts the court's discretion to 23 dismiss without leave to amend. Where a more carefully drafted complaint might 24 state a claim, a plaintiff must be given at least one chance to amend the complaint 25 before the district court dismisses the action with prejudice. [National Council of La 26 Raza v. Chegavske, 800 F3d 1032, 1041 (9th Cir. 2015)—“black-letter law” that 27 district court must give at least one chance to amend absent clear showing 28 amendment would be futile; Davoodi v. Austin Independent School Dist., 755 F3d

1 307, 310 (5th Cir. 2014)—dismissal after giving plaintiff only one chance to state 2 case “is ordinarily unjustified” (internal quotes omitted)] Federal policy strongly 3 favors determination of cases on their merits. Therefore, the role of pleadings is 4 limited, and leave to amend the pleadings is freely given unless the opposing party 5 makes a showing of undue prejudice, or bad faith or dilatory motive on the part of 6 the moving party. [Foman v. Davis, 371 US 178, 182, 83 S.Ct. 227, 7 230 (1962); Sonoma County Ass'n of Retired Employees v. Sonoma County, 708 F3d 8 1109, 1117 (9th Cir. 2013)] The liberal standard for permitting amendment “is 9 especially important where the law is uncertain.” [Runnion ex rel. Runnion v. Girl 10 Scouts of Greater Chicago & Northwest Indiana, 786 F3d 510, 520, 523 (7th Cir.
11 2015)—liberal amendment standard needed “in the face of uncertain pleading 12 standards after Twombly and Iqbal”] Thus, while “leave to amend should not be 13 granted automatically,” the circumstances under which Rule 15(a) “permits denial of 14 leave to amend are limited.” [Ynclan v. Department of Air Force, 943 F2d 1388, 15 1391 (5th Cir. 1991)]

16 Plaintiff contends that any perceived deficiencies can be cured by amendment.

17 VII. CONCLUSION

18 For the reasons set forth above, the motion to dismiss should be denied and the 19 Defendants ordered to answer the Complaint.
